Education, Europe and emerging diseases
- the challenges facing the information profession

Animal Health Information Specialists
Annual Conference

Turnbull Room, University of Glasgow
Thursday April 28th 2005

Education, Europe and emerging diseases - the challenges facing the information profession.

New connections with Europe are bringing change and opportunity to veterinarians, veterinary schools, animal health organisations and their information providers. This conference offers a forum for discussion of some of the topics and challenges which are being created by these closer links.
